ARI of Connecticut, Inc. Annual Report 2013

ARI President & CEO

Once again, it gives me great pleasure to present our Annual Report for fiscal year 2013. While the year was full of challenges and changes, many wonderful things were accomplished in support of the people we serve and their families.

Our clients continued to meet their aspirations and enjoyed a vast number of programs and activities while doing so. They participated in holiday-themed parties, men and women's nights out, bowling events, art classes, recycling programs, cooking classes, aqua-aerobics, golf, baseball games, symphony concerts and much more. They also spent time perfecting their residential, social and job skills. In parallel, we, as an agency, continued to meet and exceed our goals and quality assurance standards.

While funding from our major sources has continued to erode, our state budget provided a minor increase this fiscal year. That, however, was offset by a deficit mitigation plan. Regardless, we look to the future with guarded optimism that we will continue to meet the needs of our most at-risk citizens. This past year, the implementation of the "level of need" based funding was put into action for the Day Programs. Residential programs will be affected between July 2013 and January 2014. This new method of funding will have a real and significant impact on our agency and industry. The expansion of our residential program in Ridgefield has been put on hold for because funding we sought from the Department of Housing and Urban Development has been severely reduced. We will, of course, continue work with The Ridgefield Sunrise Cottage Board of Directors to develop new models to meet the needs in that community.

The recurring theme being heard locally as well as nationally is "people and families first." We must continue to focus on the needs and dreams of each person we serve. Work with our local school district is vital for transition from high school to adult life. Our Day, Employment, and Residential Services Departments provide necessary skills and support for independence and self-reliance in adulthood. To provide these crucial supports, our fundraising efforts have to exceed the dwindling resources from the State. Our fundraising events promote our mission while soliciting the dollars needed to fill the funding gap. But, it is not all about the money. Community-based activities with generous companies and organizations such as I.B.M., General Electric, Purdue Pharma, First County Bank, Fairfield County Community Foundation, Knights of Columbus, Kayak for a Cause, and the Stamford Police Association, provide time, talent and friendship to our organization. Over 400 people were actively engaged and over 2,000 hours were clocked this year.

I wish to thank the outstanding ARI staff, our Board of Directors, Friends of ARI, donors and devoted volunteers for your continued support and encouragement. With your commitment to our mission, we are inspired to seek the higher heights in support of people with disabilities. We are up for the challenge and I know that you are, too!
